Tutoring Experience

In my 11 years as a tutor, I've worked extensively with students preparing for UCAT, helping them succeed in securing places in competitive medical and STEM programs. My focus on A-Level Chemistry has allowed my students to excel and build strong foundations, while my GCSE tutoring in Biology and Environmental Science further supports their broader scientific studies.

I've also guided students through the UCAS application process, offering support with personal statements, mock interviews, and targeted exam preparation. Many of my students have gained admission to top universities, and my background as a former Head of Chemistry has been instrumental in my ability to provide structured, impactful tutoring.
